

Global Healthcare - A Multi-billion Dollar Collaboration

By Ambassador Hope

Dated: Jul 02, 2009

GE recently committed $6 bn to invest in this emerging trillion dollar market.

Washington DC, USA - GE recently committed $6 bn to invest in this emerging trillion dollar market. A lot is at stake..we have valued human life very cheaply and developed policies to drive humans to heart attacks and strokes so that healthcare monoliths can profit from $million dollar surgeries.

Healthcare systems are bankrupting families and countries..a transformation is vital and the emerging countries want to offer healthcare to stop the brain drain and develop their economies. As world leaders wake up to the fact that dead citizens produce no income and sick citizens drain the countries resources, a new age of enlightened self-interest is driving the shift from illness to wellness..from acute care to preventative healthcare.

The opportunities to leverage mobile and internet technologies to deliver healthcare at the scale and speed of the need are becoming affordable as well as desirable. Emerging countries neither have the time of the money to follow the US system where 50% of each healthcare dollar is spent on duplicative administration. Emerging countries need not waste millions of dollars building hospitals and clinics when the roads and transport is not available to take people miles away to use them.

For an emerging country like Turkey where you have to take your own sheets to hospital the opportunity to transform from a 14th century Infrastructure to a 21st century INFOstructure are a dream come true.....a chance to usher in dramatic service for millions of people and engage the country in a mass collaboration Program where the citizen becomes art of the solution instead of part of the problem.

I have spent 28 years investing in building the Intellectual Property, Technology, Contracts and Global Supply Chain to transform healthcare access for the poor. With a Porfolio of 14 Social Transformation Programs worth $104 billion we are in a stong position. Development has been completed and all Programs are producing revenues and ready to scale up.

Now the question is?

Who do we partner with?

Who will give us the best support to live the dreams of millions of people craving to be empowered?

Who will walk their talk?

Who will leverage their assets and ours and make a truly global organization?

It could be Google, GE, Yahoo, IBM, Johnson and Johnson, Siemens, Microsoft, or Apple.

The next few days will bring about a convergence.

A clear leader who sincerely says :

"How can we help?"

"What do you need?"

"Can we collaborate in transforming healthcare for the poor?"

Videos: <http://www.youtube.com/prosperitystudios>

Twitter: <http://twitter.com/AmbassadorHope>

“Empower The Poor” World News: <http://www.congoo.com/Empower>

###

Prosperity Studios is a new kind of studio created to manage the intellectual capital of pioneers, inventors and creatives. We have a global network of resources and once we have assessed the talent and market opportunity, we bring the missing ingredients (in form of stake holders) to complete the recipe for success.

We develop talent to serve the global markets of healthcare, health food and drinks, education, orphan care, green technologies, sustainable environments, energy, arts and entertainment.

Category	Business, Media, Society
Tags	ge, Healthcare, poverty alleviation
Email	Click to email author
Phone	+1 202 741 9172
Address	PMB 6491 2711 Centreville Road, Suite 120
City/Town	Wilmington
State/Province	Delaware
Zip	19808
Country	United States