

July 5th - World Interdependence Day

By Greenhouse Neutral Foundation

Dated: Jul 03, 2009

The Greenhouse Neutral Foundation declares the 5th of July to be WORLD INTERDEPENDENCE DAY.

MEDIA RELEASE

WORLD INTERDEPENDENCE DAY July 5th 2009

We are not independent of the actions of all other global citizens.

While our independence as individuals and as nations is a right to act as such, our individual and national emissions will continue to impact all impartially. Climate change has no national boundaries and neither should our agreement to act.

The Greenhouse Neutral Foundation calls upon those that can choose to be global statesmen to secure a safe future, to recognise our interdependence and act not with nationalistic focus but as global citizens.

In December in Copenhagen should you fail to agree with national agendas carried with you, you will have failed the interdependence of all to a safe future.
