

Free Range Cookies Launches FunRaising Friday 5 To Aid Non-Profit Groups

By Free Range Cookies

Dated: Jul 06, 2009

St. Louis, Missouri Company Donates 5% Of July Friday Retail Sales To Benefit Celiac Disease Research and Children's Camp

Free Range Cookies, a St. Louis, Missouri based company, is proud to announce FunRaising Friday 5, a new program established to benefit non-profits and other charitable organizations. Five percent of all retail sales on Fridays during a given month will be donated to a designated group.

Five percent of all Friday sales in July will be donated to support Swingin' for Celiacs, a fundraiser to benefit Camp Celiac and the Celiac Disease Center at Columbia University. "The economy has really affected donations to charitable groups," said Linda Daniels of Free Range Cookies. "Many non profits need the help now more than ever."

Free Range Cookies can be found roaming in the St. Louis area at both Whole Foods locations, Winslow's Home, Cose Dolci Bakery, Ladue School District and at the Free Range Cookies store located at 425 South Florissant Road in Ferguson, Missouri.

Contact:

Linda Daniels

info@freerangecookies.com

twitter@freerangecookie

About Swingin' For Celiacs

Swingin' for Celiacs will hold a jazz concert on Saturday, August 1, 2009. The event will feature Tony D. and the Groove Merchants on the outdoor stage at Schranz Memorial Park, 360 Honeysuckle Lane, Swansea, IL 62226. Beverages and gluten free snacks provided by local vendors. Event begins at 5:00 pm, headliners play 7:00 pm. Admission is free, but generous donations are strongly encouraged. Proceeds from this event will benefit Camp Celiac in Rhode Island and the Celiac Disease Center at Columbia University (<http://www.celiacdiseasecenter.columbia.edu/CF-HOME.htm>). For more information about this fundraiser, please email Michael Clanahan at clanahanm@yahoo.com.

About Free Range Cookies

Free Range Cookies was founded in 2007 with the goal of making high quality gluten free baked goods available for people with celiac disease (CD), a genetic intolerance to the gluten in wheat, rye and barley. Once thought to be a rare disorder, CD is now known to affect more than 1 in 100 Americans. The great news is that CD can be treated by following a gluten free diet. Visit <http://freerangecookies.com> for more information.

###

Free Range Cookies bakes artisan breads and cookies using high quality gluten free, dairy free ingredients. Our products are enjoyed by people who need to avoid wheat and dairy for health reasons but are tasty enough to satisfy the pickiest wheat eater!

Category Food, Event, Gluten Free

Tags celiac disease, gluten-free, swansea il, fundraising friday 5, st louis mo, free range cookies
Email Click to email author
Address 425 South Florissant Road
Ferguson, MO 63135
City/Town Ferguson
State/Province Missouri
Zip 63135
Country United States