

Cheap Washing Machines Online

The washing machine review website now allows customers to compare new and used prices on popular brands of Washers and Dryers

July 12, 2009 - PRLog -- The washing machine review website at <http://www.washingmachinesreviews.com>, which was previously used to find reviews on popular brands of Washers and Dryers, now lists both new and used Washing Machines For Sale at lower and cheap prices. Normally going to the local Home Depot or Lowes Hardware Store was the best place to research and find a great price on a Washer and Dryer, however with the growth of the internet, this is no longer true.

The Washing Machine Reviews website at <http://www.washingmachinesreviews.com> helps customers find affordably priced and cheap Washing Machines online while at the same time provide the shopper more information online, compared to what can be found at the local hardware store. Lower and Cheap prices are obtained, because the internet is generally a more competitive marketplace, with thousands and thousands of websites competing for your business.

Most homeowners believe that buying a Washer and Dry online isn't practical, due to the shipping costs, however this shipping cost is usually "cheaper" than what your local Lowes or Home Depot may charge to "deliever the oversized Washer and Dryer to your home. When buying a Washing Machine online, this shipping costs delivers the washer and/or dry right to your door, often cheaper than the local delivery cost charged by your local hardware store.

The other large perk with purchasing either new or used washing machines online, is that most states do not charge "sales tax" related to online transactions. Some states do, but most do not. Depending on your state, this saves you $20 - $60 in tax alone. This combined with saving on delievery costs, and finding lower starting prices on the internet (namely the Washing Machines Reviews website at: <http://www.washingmachinesreviews.com> as an example), in most cases customers can save a bundle on a washing and dryer online
