NEW YORK, NY (August 17, 2009) -- “As as an up and coming filmmaker... I must say that this network puts you in contact with key players in the industry. Most of all, you will gain exposure” says Filmmaker Yuri Alves

Founded in September 2007, The New York Film Exposure Network has become a recommended resource for Filmmakers, Directors, Producers, Distributors, Writers, Production crew, Actors, Models, Composers and anyone who has an interest in all things cinema or film related.

What separates this network of over (838) members from the rest? It is the perfect place for aspiring and established talent to promote their work. All members have access to make intricate connections, promote their products and services, turn their script into a screenplay, find casting calls, get crew and cast for upcoming film projects

How are connections made? The New York Film Exposure Network hosts a variety of well planned and organized events; including networking receptions, industry cocktail hours, film screenings, panel discussions, seminars and red carpet events. At each event performers, filmmakers and cinematographers reels are shown. Industry guests, such as casting directors and talent agents also attend. Members get the opportunity to be interviewed by entertainment media and local press.

“A recommended resource for talents new to NYC”, says Backstage National Edition August 6th 2009 issue.
