Cellflare Blackberry Mobile Application Now Available Through GetJar App Store

Location-based services (LBS) company Cellflare now appears on GetJar, well known as being the world's most popular mobile application distribution and developer community.

GetJar based in the UK, Silicon Valley and Lithuania has over 14 million downloads every month and is considered the second largest App Store in the World. GetJar features Apps for almost all mobile devices.

Cellflare Inc. Managing Director Keith Tsao says "GetJar is a household name in the Telecommunications sector, and Cellflare's launching with them will only prove to strengthen the Cellflare brand".

With 300 million downloads to date, GetJar has recently closed a Series A investment from Silicon Valley and London- based Accel Partners.

The Cellflare application has seen great success recently – appearing on the Apple iTunes Store, Handango, PocketGear.com and Blackberry App World.

The Cellflare application uses your mobile devices GPS system to locate you and your contacts on the move in real time. The application boasts features such as the Quick Locate PIN, GeoFencing, eCouponing and real-time history and speed functions.
