QuoteIt is designed to help provide accurate estimates to customers. This software is great for the sheet metal industry, machining industry and any other industry which requires operations, exploded bill of materials and detailed reports.

MIE Solutions is proud to announce another new release of QuoteIt!

QuoteIt is designed to help you quickly provide accurate estimates to your customers. This cost estimating software is great for the sheet metal industry, machining industry and any other industry which requires operations, exploded bill of materials and detailed reports. There are many ERP software packages which say they do quoting and estimating, but few have the success of QuoteIt. Job estimating software is a key factor in creating a profitable company for job shops. Cost Estimating Software, Job Costing Software, Quote Management Software is easy with Quote It!

Some of the new features include the ability to have user defined operations which will produce the cost at a one time event. An example is an engineering operation which does not need to be charged each time a machine is setup. This will make your quote more accurate and potentially the ability to get awarded the job.

Another feature is pretty unique to QuoteIt but very important when producing estimates for large assemblies including machinery, boxes, cars, desks or any other large assembly. This feature will take all the common components in the assembly and merge the pricing because during the manufacturing step you would not produce common parts separately. During the final calculation QuoteIt rolls all the common component requirements together in order to merge all common setups and materials into an accurate cost.

An ease of use feature allows a full assembly pricing window to be opened as labor and bill of material items are added to the quote giving you an instant view of the price.
