Oct. 7, 2009 - PRLog -- Divorce happens to take place because couples are not taking marriage seriously. Its responsibility of both partners to maintain good relationship for a happy married life. You both have to honestly work on it since you have joined this institution. If you are really serious about your relationship then I am sure there will be very least cases of divorce. Today in the western culture it is found that out of three marriages one goes on the cards of split. Divorce procedure is carried when you both are no longer prepared to work together, live together and not faithful to your commitment. Earlier the divorce procedure was easy and no complication was found. One can easily take divorce from his partner. But today the situation is not the same. It has become very complex and lengthy process to be carried out for separation.

Divorce is not to be decided by one party, both the partners must think again on adjustment and if no scope of settlement is seen then you can take further step. Settlement with mutual understanding can save your relationship. There can be many reasons of separation like entry of a new partner can lead to divorce procedure. Divorce creates problems for kids and children who are avoid of parent love and affection. When you are filing a complaint or petition, you have to state the reason of divorce for which you are filing a petition. Irrespective of all if you have decided to get divorce then the first thing you need to do is file a divorce petition in a local court. The person who has filed the divorce petition is called petitioner and your wife is called respondent.

To carry out complete Divorce procedure, you need a legal advisor like a solicitor who can help you in the proceedings. All these proceedings are critical and needs to be handled properly with the help of a legal authority. If you have children below 18 years, then a statement of arrangements needs to be drafted for children. This document is arranged to manage arrangements of children so that who will take care of them after separation and with whom they are to stay. When all the divorce documents have been drafted your lawyer will send them to both of you for approval.

In the divorce preceding the couples have to negotiate the terms and conditions of martial settlement successfully. The court will send a copy of arrangement of children along with divorce petition copy to your spouse for her consent on this matter. On the acknowledgment form, your spouse has to approve her consent for the preceding. At any point of time, you can stop the divorce procedure if you wish to withdraw. Divorce is the formal separation of a couple who are engaged in the beautiful bond of marriage. Your solicitor will help you to settle the case outside court if you wish to. If there is any hope of settlement, you can step further to save your married life
