Mage Leveling- The Key To Success

By now you probably know the great power that Mage characters in WoW possess. Their burst damage and their un-matched ability to control battles make the Mage class strong and fun to use.

However to get the best out of your Mage and also WoW you need to make sure that they attain a high level as quickly as possible. The best way to achieve this is by following a Mage Leveling Guide. This allows you to level your Mage quickly and easily without all the trial and error.

Here are some basic tips for leveling your Mage to ensure you are as powerful as possible and enjoy the game the most.

#1 Guide to Mage Leveling: Elemental Spells = Serious Hurting Power

For massive DPS most people think that Warriors and Rogues are the only classes to go for. However with the right spells, Mages can become great combat machines. Check out the fire and frost spells from the elemental schools.

#2 Mage leveling- Make Sure You Control The Group.

During a group situation or raid it is vital that the mage takes care of crowd control. This disables most of the mob strength when attacking you. I've heard from many gamers that the Polymorph spell is the very best asset your group has against mobs.

#3 Your Health is vital

Mages are sometimes referred to as "glass cannon". In close combat (or in fact being hit at all) your mage can be killed quite easily. However if you stay near the back and keep an eye on your health bar, then your burst damage will more than make up for your 'frail' status.

#4 Know Your Own Class

When playing as a mage you will have the added advantage of knowing how much damage your spells make. This means that you can monitor your mana usage and make sure that your spells are effective.

There was just 4 basic tips for leveling up your mage and getting more out of the game. Using a Mage leveling guide will help you get to level 80 much faster and enjoy World of Warcraft much more.

We highly recommend Zygor's Guide because it's the most comprehensive and it's completely in-game.
