

Siber Systems Roboform Still The Top Password Manager

By Carmen van Houten

Dated: Oct 13, 2009

RoboForm is proprietary software password management program developed by Siber Systems, Inc. which takes care of managing the password for logging into sites. It makes the work much easier for the users.

Cuijk, A software that makes the user to organize the passwords in a more easier way is called password manager. A password manager is of three basic types namely desktop based, web based or portable. Password management is becoming more pervasive each and every day. The need for more complex passwords in itself makes the password difficult to be remembered.

“The users need not remember the login id or the password for these activities are taken care by the RoboForm password manager. RoboForm password manager is more secure and also accomplishes the work faster and easier. It eliminates the time consuming long registration process easier to just a click of the software. When speaking of password manager security plays an important role and it is the highest priority given by RoboForm password manager. RoboForm password manager uses AES (Advanced Encryption Standard) encryption which is a high level standard. Thereby it makes the password strong which is difficult to hack and makes the password as smart as possible. Portable format of software is also available and hence it is phone-friendly. RoboForm password manager is a universal software which works on all platforms possible and ideally suits internet explorer 7. Thus the online password manager has an advantage over desktop type manager in which the greatest feature is portability. It fights well against phishing and key loggers. It is also spyware free which is the need of the hour. Another advantage of RoboForm password manager is that it supports languages available in the translation page” says Mr. Carmen of <http://www.roboform-pro.com>

“Free versions of RoboForm password manager have certain limitations which do not mean that it is substandard. Whereas the RoboForm pro overcomes these limitations and now turns out to be the most preferred by the online users”.

Speaking on the move, he said, “RoboForm pro password manager is now the best password manager for it has many features like bookmarks, Saving non-Passcard data to Safenotes, Filling Long Forms from Identities, Password Generator, Security & Encryption, Managing User Data, Search Box, User Interface and other miscellaneous conveniences. Passcards, identities and safenotes are categorized into folders. It is also the most widely used one-click password management product. Thus with all the above said features RoboForm pro password manager is the number one password manager”.
