Debt Resolution firm DebtPro 123 launches its Explosion Tour in Vancouver and Portland Oregon this past weekend, holding the first of twelve seminar stops across the United States.

Oct. 21, 2009 - PRLog -- Debt Resolution firm DebtPro 123 launches its Explosion Tour in Vancouver and Portland Oregon this past weekend, holding the first of twelve seminar stops across the United States.

The Explosion Tour is a series of road show conferences geared towards product education, and affiliate training. The tour was launched in Vancouver and Portland, to be followed by conferences in, Los Angeles, Orange County, San Diego, Dallas, Houston, Honolulu, Maui, Kawai, Kona, and ending in the US territory of Guam. Debtpro123's co-founder Ryan Foland is leading the tour, speaking to crowds of existing and potential affiliates, as well as holding product information break out sessions for potential clients who attend. "We had a great turn out with our kick off in Oregon," Ryan shared, "with groups like Alpha Consulting and Family First Solutions, there was standing room only as eager agents flocked to learn and discuss the opportunity that Debtpro123s programs present."

In Using Contract law, DebtPro 123's unique Resolution Programs enable consumers to empower themselves with knowledge and know-how to utilize existing federal rights and consumer protection laws to fight back against credit card companies, and other debt issuers.

"My agents were very excited to have a chance to hear experts talk about the Debt Resolution process and how it distinguishes itself from other programs such as debt settlement, debt consolidation, and credit consumer counseling," explained Raul Normandia, CEO of Family First Solutions. "This tour is another example of continued support that we receive as an affiliate of Debtpro123. We are proud to exclusively offer their debt relief products, and consumer feedback regarding the process and customer service has been all positive."

Debtpro123 (<http://www.debtpro123.com>) believes this first Explosion Tour is a great way to gain a grass-roots foothold with one-on-one education in communities where statistics show there is a high percentage of people with overbearing consumer debt. Based on the success of this tour, Debtpro123 will expand its reach with subsequent conferences and seminars across other target areas to help support and educate affiliates.
