Seattle, WA – EVDense Corporation (www.evdense.com) a leader in providing technology services to help people protect themselves recently met with domestic violence shelters in Washington State to provide their digital diary service for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault. The EVDense Digital Diary service will provide the third party support to help victims empower themselves with the evidence they need to stop the abuse.

Domestic violence is a very serious reality for many people in the United States. It is an extremely difficult thing for a person to live through. But there are steps to be taken and it is possible to make it out of an abusive relationship without additional harm. EVDense Corporation wants to help people involved in these tough situations by giving them something they can use to help identify the patterns of abuse and prove their case to the authorities and to the courts.

EVDense Digital Diary can help victims of domestic violence by giving them a safe and secure way to collect evidence and keep it from ending up in the wrong hands. It is crucial in a case of domestic violence for the victim to keep a good record of any incident which could be considered abuse. It is very important that the evidence being collected not be found by the abuser because this can and does make matters worse for the victim.

EVDense Digital Diary uses SSL security to make sure that any information stored is secure and protected. No one can access an account at any time except for the owner of the account. “This is a very important factor in recommending a service to domestic violence victims” mentions several program directors of shelters in Washington State.
