The newest version of the EVDense Digital Diary is based on our users' feedback to make it even easier to use!

Seattle, WA – EVDense Corporation (www.evdense.com), the leader in storing and protecting electronic evidence for consumers, today released an updated version to make it even easier for users to continue to protect themselves with their own electronic evidence.

The EVD Digital Diary now allows users to create folders, which can be used to sort and categorize all of their files. Users can simply drag and drop their files into a folder, so the files can be easily found when they are needed. A particular file can also be stored in multiple folders, in case the file relates to more than one issue.

The new user interface for the EVD Digital Diary makes it even easier to use and is familiar to everyone who uses email. “Based on feedback from our users, we made some major enhancements to the service that will give our users a more organized way to store their important information to protect themselves when they need it the most,” says Roger Yee, Co-CEO of EVDense Corporation.

With its timeline summary, the EVD Digital Diary gives users a very unique way to view their files. Users can track a series of events in the timeline summary from beginning to end. The EVD Digital Diary timeline summary helps users visually identify patterns, and makes it easy for users to visually present their information as a story.

EVD Digital Diary can be used for just about anything. Sign up for your free account today and see how easy it is to keep a record of your life. Keep an ongoing daily diary, upload any type of electronic file, certify that all of your files are the originals and use EVD Digital Diary to validate that those files have not been changed or altered since the day they were stored.
