

DACO Partners with RackmedX to bring Pallet Rack Repair to the West Coast

DACO Corp today announced that they are partnering with Mississippi-based RackmedX LLC to offer full service pallet rack repair to companies who are looking for a cost effective option to replacing their damaged pallet racking systems.

Nov. 16, 2009 - PRLog -- DACO Corp today announced that they are partnering with Mississippi-based RackmedX LLC to offer full service pallet rack repair to companies who are looking for a cost effective option to replacing their damaged racking systems. Many companies today have some sort of pallet rack damage but have delayed addressing it due to cost, down time and the disruption caused to their operations.

“We are excited to be able to offer our customers an affordable alternative to replacing their damaged pallet racking systems. The RackmedX system will actually make the repaired components more impact resistant with increased protection than the original upright.” says Justin Cox, DACO’s resident pallet rack expert.

Repairing damaged components instead of replacing a damaged pallet rack upright is a safe, cost effective alternative that is far less intrusive to a company’s daily operations. In most cases it is not necessary to unload, relocate, and then reload product in the pallet rack system in order to repair it. Not only are the damaged components repaired with high quality constructed replacement parts, they are also integrated with impact protection to help reduce and in some cases eliminate recurring impact damage.

Replaced upright columns could suffer the same fate as the original uprights. By repairing them instead, the built-in column protection will improve the impact resistance by 200% or more, making the replaced column structure more protected than the original. This added protection is especially valuable in high volume distribution facilities that experience recurring rack damage.

A selection of pallet rack repair components are available and can be easily installed by a company’s maintenance department or professional installers, available through DACO. Installers provided by DACO respect and abide by all safety rules and regulations.

DACO has been working with companies since 1972 to supply top-quality products and offer creative material handling solutions that reduce expenses and improve their operations. By teaming up with RackmedX, who has been dedicated to offering quality product and pallet rack repair services since 1993, the combined forces offer an affordable and time saving alternative to replacing damaged racking systems.
