Jan. 14, 2010 - PRLog -- Duplex Industrial can provide a large range of heavy commercial and industrial cleaning machines, especially for the Australians. So, for people who want to buy battery powered floor scrubbers, floor sweepers, water-filtered vacuums and many other appliances, this company can be the perfect solution. They operate all over the country, in capital cities, as well as in major rural centers. The firm's head office is based in Melbourne, so it is not to be wondered that industrial cleaning equipment Melbourne is so appreciated by the people and companies located in this area.

No matter if the potential clients are based in Sydney, Brisbane, Perth, Canberra, Darwin, Newcastle, Orange, etc. they can still buy these products from the exclusive distributors found in these cities. They offer, beside the wanted equipment, full servicing, product installation and training for learning how to use these machines. And this represents a sign of professionalism coming from their part. So, it doesn't matter if people already know how to use these industrial cleaning machines or not, they can buy these devices. And the Duplex Industrial's employees and their partners will offer onsite demonstrations, especially for people who don't know and are willing to understand how these machines work.

Duplex Industrial offers different floor cleaners, which are suitable for all types of hard floor surfaces. Such type of floor cleaner has multi-purpose functions and it can be adapted in just a few seconds to function as a walk behind scrubber. Besides scrubbing, these industrial cleaning machines can function as floor sweeper and portable wet or dry vacuum cleaner. People can consider these devices as a complex appliance. But for the hard floor areas, especially those who need vacuuming and sweeping regularly, people can use really well the battery powered industrial vacuum. Being both durable and efficient, this type of vacuum is able to cope with a whole warehouse cleaning.

For people and places which need more than just vacuuming and simple cleaning, Duplex Industrial offers a vacuum that uses jet steam. It is really appropriate for the places where regular cleaning, sanitizing and decontamination of equipment are required. It is not to be wondered why in industries like alimentary, hospitals, pharmacies, etc. this industrial cleaning equipment is really useful.

Nowadays, technologies and products have become more complex and people must keep up with them, with everything that is involved in this process. Cleaning is one aspect that is really connected with everything that happens in a company, from offices to warehouses and production departments. Companies enlarge their buildings to accommodate new machines and devices used in the production line. For such large spaces, factory cleaning equipment must be directly connected with the rest of the company. For this reason, firms must look for companies that can provide this kind of industrial cleaning equipment; one such provider can be found at the web address www.duplexindustrial.com.au, being based in Australia.
