Dated: Jan 14, 2010

Recent college graduate using talents to fulfill his and others dreams and make a living for himself.

In a world and time of uncertainty especially for recent college graduates, Thato Dadson, Wilmington University alum uses his talent and skills to create his path and opportunities for himself. This is ever evident in his recent music video production “Dark Light”.

Dark Light is a song made by Delaware hip-hop artist Jet Phynx. “This was a creative song that allowed me to explore my own creative talent, it allowed me to venture away from the regular cookie cutter music videos that are out today.” Dadson offered. The video has a world wide release scheduled for Friday January 15th 2010 on sites such as Jetphynx.com

Thato, is no newcomer to the music video arena, still enjoying the success of “Swag on Swoll”, a song created by Hip-hop artist Sadot. Thato continues to use his craft to achieve his goals and keeps a full workload. He also serves as a producer for the music variety television show “Who?Mag TV”, and has also produced several television pilots, short films, and so much more. “I just love the camera and the opportunity to entertain the world.” Dadson says. So as the world continues to turn Thato’s camera continues to roll as he entertains the world with his vision and creativity.
