Dated: Jan 28, 2010

Hotel Villa Padierna, Marbella has become one of the leading golf hotels in Marbella for one simple reason.

Hotel Villa Padierna, Marbella (<http://www.hotelvillapadierna.com>) has become one of the leading golf hotels in Marbella for one simple reason. The hotel's two 18 hole golf courses have been designed by renowned architects who have taken into account everything a golfer could wish for on a course. While Hotel Villa Padierna, Marbella has a wealth of attractions within its grounds - from accommodation, restaurants and bars to golf club house, golf shop and fairways - it is the fact that it is the golfer's choice that helps retain its reputation as one of the very best golf hotels on the Costa del Sol.

Golfers choose Hotel Villa Padierna, Marbella as their golf hotel in Marbella for the superlative design of the fairways; design that has elevated the hotel to a venue for championship golf. Flamingos Golf Course is the brainchild of prestigious architect Antonio Garcia. An 18 hole, par-71 course, this has been host to the European Seniors' Final, 'The Daily Telegraph European Seniors' Match Play Championship' for three years. The Alferini Golf Course is 18 hole, par-73 and was designed by the highly respected Cristobal Guerrero. Set in the quiet valley away from the hub of the coast, it provides a fantastic day of golf in some of the most beautiful scenery of the entire area.

Indeed, one cannot fail to be impressed by the enviable setting of both golf courses, incorporating impressive views of the Marbella hills out to the shimmering Mediterranean Sea. Dotted throughout the courses are marble bridges, classical statues and even authentic Roman columns, which give the courses interest at every hole. Everything on the two golf courses has been designed to make for a truly memorable game of golf each and every time, even down to the choice of Mediterranean trees chosen to mark each hole - from cypress, pine and olive to orange, jacaranda, chestnut and pomegranate.

Then of course, there are the peerless facilities at Hotel Villa Padierna, Marbella. Golfers can rejuvenate in the middle of a game with drinks and snacks from La Cantina del Golf's beautiful terrace with panoramic views. When the game has finished, they can relax their muscles in the five star Thermae Spa, enjoy gourmet cuisine in one of the two excellent restaurants and discuss the day's game over an aged whiskey by the open fire in Eddy's Bar.

This luxury resort on the Costa del Sol has become one of the most popular golf hotels in Marbella thanks to its unique mix of championship golf courses, unrivalled onsite facilities and breathtaking setting; a combination that has made it the golfer's choice.
