

DiMora Custom Bikes Announces Launch of Its New Website

DiMora Custom Bikes, creator of the world's finest custom motorcycles, announced today the launch of their redesigned website for customers and dealers

Jan. 31, 2010 - PRLog -- Palm Springs, California – DiMora Custom Bikes, creator of the world's finest custom motorcycles, announced today the launch of their redesigned website for customers and dealers, offering simple navigation, extensive photo galleries, and detailed specifications of its custom motorcycles.

Founder and CEO Alfred J. DiMora spoke about the guiding principles behind the new website. "We strive to continually upgrade the quality, organization, usability, and advanced features of our online presence. Our new design works perfectly with our decision to begin offering our custom motorcycles through a national and international dealership network."

As creator of the $2 Natalia SLS2 V16 sedan, DiMora has been a pioneer in advanced utilization of the web, making DiMora Motorcar the first auto manufacturer to reveal the design, production, and testing of its automobiles via the Internet so that people around the world can learn about them and participate in the process. In the same way, DiMora Custom Bikes will utilize DiMora TV online to bring viewers into the shop where it builds the world's most advanced motorcycles with state-of-the-art technologies.

Every DiMora motorcycle complies with U.S. Department of Transportation and California Air Resources Board standards and meets or exceeds the strict new 2010 Environmental Protection Agency requirements. Motorcycles produced for export meet all applicable standards for the destination country.
