Lake Anna is the second largest lake located entirely in Virginia. Only 30 minutes to the northeast is Fredericksburg, one of America's most historic small cities, and Washington, DC is approximately 1 ½ hours away. Lake Anna was created in 1972 and Lake Anna State Park opened in 1983. The lake acts as a cooling system for the Dominion Power's North Anna Power Station. Lake Anna has over 250 miles of shoreline (public and private combined), totaling over 13,000 acres of surface area. The lake offers eight public boat launches, six marinas and one restaurant. Lake Anna is a full recreational lake, allowing jet skis, water skiing, swimming, tubing, boat docks, fishing, and other water activities. It is a fisherman's paradise since it abounds with many species of fish. Weekly fishing leagues keep full time and local residents happy and sanctioned tournaments bring visiting anglers from afar.

Lake Anna has ever-increasing number of full-time residents and a growing reputation as a popular travel destination. Dominion Power owns all of the Lake Anna Shoreline up to an elevation of 255 ft above sea-level (approximately 5-10 ft above normal Lake Anna water level). Waterfront property owners have an exclusive deeded right to use the shoreline fronting their property and can generally with approval, improve it with docks, boathouses, bulkheads and beaches. The shoreline displays custom built homes, ranging in price from $170,000 to $1,700,000 for dockable waterfront lots and lakefront homes. Many homes have beautiful docks, including some with second level viewing decks. Water access and water view lots range in price from $50,000 to $300,000+.

Public Side vs Private Side? Both sides of the lake are equally popular and there is no difference in property values between the public and private sides. It is generally agreed that there is less boat traffic on the private side since only property owners have access to the private side. Fuel for watercraft must be brought in on the private side. Small fuel tanks are allowed on private side property. The public side is larger and has access to commercial development such as marinas, state park, hotel and restaurant.
