Sony Ericsson have been busy releasing new phones at the MWC this week. Here is another, the Sony Ericsson Vivaz PRO. Checkout our full rundown of this new Sony Ericsson handset.

It is a different strategy to delight the user for a different experience with Sony Ericsson Vivaz pro. You have seen the music maestros in mobiles as well as the ace photography boosters. Now with Vivaz pro, the manufacturer has aimed at creating a new breed - the socialising chief. The clear signal is a champion for messaging with a touch screen delicacy combined with QWERTY keyboard for comfortable typing. The champs in messaging have to just cling on to their patience to see what is so new in messaging advancement.

About the looks, the first thing attracts is the magnificent keyboard with mid positioned spacebar. This perfectly offers feel of very professional attitude of the users. The keyboard isn't something big to have good spaced keys, obviously it can't be for mobile phones. But, the overall look speaks of convenience in texting of message at a reasonable comfort. The emerging doubts about feather touch quality of the keys will be hopefully resolved by the company before Vivaz pro is released for sale. The distinct advantage Sony Ericsson Vivaz pro is enrichment of the set with exclusive functionality of creating high-definition video as well as sending it across. It is expected to be a much personalised experience of creation of something as if from the class of professionals. Another support given to Vivaz pro is the pre installed applications, which easily makes up for downloadable widgets from Nokia from Ovi Store. There is another liveliness added to the design of Vivaz pro called 'human curvature', which can be possibly more appreciated when in actual use. Whatever it may be, the design gives a feeling of something Sony Ericsson Vivaz pro holds within. It is surely sophisticated set in looks, possibly the performance will endorse its assumed merits of difference.
