When you know your money is on the line, you have to act fast! The IRS won't give up without a fight, but now you're armed with the knowledge you need to quickly fight back and save your money.

Before we answer the questions:

"how do I stop a Wage Garnishment?"

"how do I stop a IRS Wage Levy?"

"how to stop IRS Wage Garnishment?", let's go through the procedure:

SOCIAL SECURITY GARNISHMENT

Section 6334 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. 6334 (c)) allows Social Security benefits and SSDI to be levied to collect unpaid Federal taxes;

If you are a Senior Citizen (also applies to someone with a Social Security Disability Garnishment by IRS) relying on Social Security or SSDI for your income and you have a Social Security Garnishment by IRS that is taking a portion of your check DWK TAX WILL STOP the IRS Wage Garnishment. Your ability to pay any past due Taxes are impacted because you have a fixed income. You need highly skilled Representation.

Through the Federal Payment Levy Program (FPLP), Social Security benefit payments outlined in Title II of the Social Security Act, Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Benefits, are subject to the 15-percent levy, to pay your delinquent tax debt.

Because the FPLP is used to satisfy tax debts, the IRS may levy your Social Security benefits regardless of the amount. This is different from the 1996 Debt Collection Improvement Act which states that the first $750 of monthly Social Security benefits is off limits to satisfy non-tax debts. Fifteen percent of the Social Security benefit will be levied through the FPLP regardless of whether or not the remaining benefit sent to you is less than $750.

IMPORTANT TO KNOW

Manual levy (100%). This is not a "TYPO".

The IRS is not limited by IRC 6331(h) to taking 15% of a taxpayer's Social Security benefits. The IRS can issue a manual levy that can continuously take all of the social security benefits under Internal Revenue Code section 6331(a), which permits levy on all wages, salary or other income (which would include Social Security). The 15% automatic IRS Levy provision is a supplement to the manual IRS Levy power. The IRS can chose the manual approach if it deems fit and attempt to collect more than the automated 15%.
ONCE AGAIN, DWK TAX GROUP WILL STOP THE IRS GARNISHMENT.

You may be Currently Uncollectible.

If you do not enough income to pay your IRS Tax debt, you may be "Currently Uncollectible". This is a method for delaying payment of the debt. If your DWK Tax Attorney can convince the IRS that you have no way of paying your IRS Tax debt at this time, the IRS will consider you "currently not collectible."

When a taxpayer is unable to make installment payments and can prove that enforcement of a levy or garnishment would create significant undue economic hardship by depriving the taxpayer of basic living necessities the IRS and some States will classify the account as currently uncollectible and grant hardship status to suspend collection activity.
