Dated: Mar 30, 2010

The Law Offices of Michael S. Discioarro, LLC announced today that the finishing touches to a new website to assist those charged with DWI DUI in Staten Island are complete.

The Law Offices of Michael S. Discioarro, LLC announced today that their new website that assists those accused of DWI DUI in Staten Island NY is complete. "We really thought it was necessary to reach out to the Staten Island Community to address their legal needs." He said. Mr. Discioarro went on to say that the State Island DA's office is very tough on DWI cases and the penalties can be extreme even for first time offenders. "The police are actually confiscating people's cars in a first arrest. There is no common sense anymore when it comes to DWI cases." He said. He felt there was a need for the new site that can be reviewed at <http://www.dwistatenisland.com>

DWI arrests are up all over the city. But State Island is especially hard hit because of the out of state drivers that regularly pass through it and because of the many highways that intersect the borough. Also, the NYPD has taken an aggressive stand against anyone who they think even remotely smells of alcohol. DWI arrests in State Island are some of the most subjective to make. If an officer just smells alcohol on your breath, you're going in. The breathalyzer machines used by the NYPD are old and not kept up well. This means that many people are found to be drunk by the machine and they have only had a glass of wine with dinner. The website can be viewed at <http://www.dwistatenisland.com>.
