Blake Swafford, Airport Director for the Paulding Northwest Atlanta Airport (PUJ), has announced that the airport will be hosting an Open House on Saturday, May 1st, 2010, from 10am to 3pm.

Blake Swafford, Airport Director for the Paulding Northwest Atlanta Airport, has announced that PUJ will be hosting its first Open House on Saturday, May 1st, 2010, from 10am to 3pm. This free event will be open to the public, with various static aircraft displays available for viewing throughout the day at the airport. Other events are being planned for the afternoon, and they will be posted as updates become available on the airport's website, www.pauldingairport.com.

Mr. Swafford commented, "We hope to show the businesses and citizens of Paulding County and metro Atlanta that this ultra-modern facility is unlike others in the region." The PUJ Airport Authority has worked closely with professional pilots and aviation related firms throughout the design stages of the new facility, ensuring that the building's layout, fiber to the premises (FTTP) and Fixed Base Operator (FBO) services will attract new industry and opportunities for the Airport and the surrounding Technology Park, which is currently under development.

The centerpiece of the Paulding Northwest Atlanta Airport is its 23,000 square foot, state-of-the-art terminal building and FBO. Located adjacent to the airport's extensive main ramp area, the FBO and its fueling facilities are capable of handling several large aircraft simultaneously. The FBO and terminal building will feature all of the amenities that any professional pilot has come to expect, including wireless internet and flight planning stations, meeting areas, pilot rest areas. The large ramp area offers ample parking for both vehicles and aircraft.

Avgas is currently being sold at the airport for $4.25 per gallon and Jet-A sells for $3.50 per gallon.
