

Handyman Services Plymouth and Ann Arbor Join Forces to Help the Aging in Place Community

Retrofitting homes to help the “Aging in Place” population and their caregivers

May 5, 2010 - PRLog -- Ann Arbor, MI – Handy Pro Handyman Services in Plymouth are well-known and well-respected for their quality workmanship and honest business practices. Keith Paul, founder, was inspired to go into the business to make a difference for consumers when his wife’s grandmother was ripped off by a contractor.

During a recent interview with Keith Paul the question came up about aging loved ones who wish to remain in their home. The concern was for their safety, slips and falls, getting up and down stairs, etc...

“I completely understand your concern, and you are not alone with wanting to keep your parents safely in their home rather than moving them to an assisted living or nursing home,” said Paul. “The good news is there has been an extensive amount of time and energy devoted to helping them stay in their homes.”

With the growing number of people 65 and older who wish to remain independent and live in their own homes the demand for home remodeling to accommodate their needs has risen. Many homes are being designed and retrofitted to help the “Aging in Place” population, and the caregivers, occupational/physical therapists and remodelers have joined together to solve this need.

Keith Paul talked about some of the new products and services that have been developed, including extremely durable fasteners to ensure that grab bars and stair railings support the weight of the person using them, automatic interior door openers, raised dishwashers and walk-in showers, to name a few.
