

How to Train Pit Bull Puppies – Incredible Training Method and Tips That You Can Use Right Away!

First, you should check out the tips below so you can get a general idea on how to train Pit Bull puppies with the use of a clicker.

July 3, 2010 - PRLog -- If you want to learn how to train Pit Bull puppies and get positive results as quickly as possible, then I recommend you use a clicker. This is a highly popular dog training method that works extremely well if it is executed with the help of some very special clicker training tactics.

Listen, I have a Pit Bull puppy at home and he used to give me nightmares for Pete's sake!

I darn near booted him out of the house before I came to my senses. See, housebreaking my Pit Bull Pekoe was so excruciatingly hard, I reckoned teaching my pet turtle how to climb a mango tree would have been easier.

He wouldn't respond to basic dog obedience commands even after God knows how many hours of training!

Thank goodness I discovered clicker training and with the right training guide, everything quickly fell into place. I'll tell you where to get a comprehensive guide on proven clicker training strategies at the end of this article but first, you should check out the tips below so you can get a general idea on how to train Pit Bull puppies with a clicker.

- 1) Before a training session is initiated, be sure to introduce the clicker to your Pit Bull puppies in the right manner. This is called clicker charging. The process requires you to locate a place with zero distractions (ideally indoors). Next you press the clicker and produce the treat. Do this several times and then take a break. No need to do this every session mind you. Only required during the early stages of training.
- 2) Focus on click accuracy from the get-go. The biggest mistake I made when I first got started on clicker training was neglecting the precision of my clicks. This would negatively affect your puppy's response to the clicker.
- 3) Once your Pit Bull puppy has become accustomed to a particular behavior with the help of a clicker, go ahead and teach him a new behavior as often as possible. Pretty soon, you can guide him to a more advanced training stage like back chaining which is a very cool but tricky to implement clicker training tactic.

Seriously, learning how to train Pit Bull puppies is not hard once you've mapped out a proper clicker training plan.
