Editor in Chief, Dave Seeram had these comments regarding this recent release:

I'm excited to report that this edition marks our 32nd monthly release. We're seeing the times change so rapidly in the world of technology, digital photography, and the internet. That's why our theme this month focuses on being prepared. A majority of the articles this month are all about forward-thinking, such as planning for a 'Project 365' for the coming New Year, a Photoshop greeting card tutorial, and some more great Back-to-Basics techniques in Photoshop. Like last month, we've also included a brief tutorial on how you can now import the PhotographyBB Online Magazine straight into iBooks for the Apple iPad!

Readers are finding huge benefits with our new FREE subscription method, which comes with an option to enjoy free weekly photo-journals which include tutorials and articles from our blog. Readers can subscribe at <http://www.photographybb.com/subscribe> where a handful of lucky subscribers will win an extremely cool Canon lens-style coffee mug!

By way of download in PDF format, PhotographyBB continues its trend through the future of free downloadable magazine distribution. In addition, the PhotographyBB Online Magazine also features useful and practical tutorials on how to use image processing tools such as Photoshop and Lightroom to build on digital photography post-processing skills.
