Digital Marketechs have evolved in recent times, using their skills to generate other revenue streams and have entered the world of search engine marketing a large part of their revenue has been from Clickbank.

Paul Stubbs first looked at Clickbank as an alternative income stream 12 months ago and was surprised by the number of Internet marketers using Clickbank to generate income. Stubbs says that there are to ways to make money with Clickbank. The first and easiest is to market niche products fabricated by others. The second method is to construct a product of your own and while this takes time and often some money it is the most lucrative of the income strings.

Stubbs insists that creating products for sale on Clickbank is not that difficult and indeed most of the information you need to create your own product is freely available on the Internet, all you have to do is to gather it rewrite it collate it and repackage it. It is that simple, of course if you have specialist skills and experience it is even easier.

Stubbs has carefully logged down all his steps and has bundled it all into a no waffle course which is easy to understand indeed you can get much of the information you need just by visiting his blog.
