About J. Adam Engel:

Adam Engel is a highly respected and experienced attorney. Engel received his law degree, with honors, from Harvard University Law School in 1995. He received his undergraduate degree in Economics, with honors, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Engel started his legal career at Choate, Hall & Stewart, a large Boston law firm known for more than a century as the home of some the nation's most accomplished litigators. At Choate, he represented clients across and outside of the country in complex litigation matters in federal and state courts, as well as in ADR proceedings. He was quickly given the responsibility to handle litigation matters involving millions of dollars for Fortune 500 companies, including Microsoft, Hewlett-Packard, and Travelers.

Engel began his career as a prosecutor in 2001 by serving as as Assistant District Attorney under current Massachusetts Attorney General Martha Coakley in Middlesex County, Massachusetts. In 2002, he moved to Ohio and took a position as an Assistant Prosecuting Attorney working for Rachel Hutzel in Warren County, Ohio. In Warren County, he handled some of the office's most challenging and high profile cases, including death penalty cases and appeals to the Ohio Supreme Court.

From 2007 to 2010, Engel served as Chief Legal Counsel for the Ohio Department of Public Safety. In that position, he provided legal advice to the Department to aid in the development of a coordinated, comprehensive state strategy to address public safety and security issues.

In 2007, Engel's work as a prosecutor was recognized by a Meritorious Service Award from the Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys Association. He has served on a number of Committees for the Ohio Supreme Court and served as a Fellow with the Ohio State Bar Foundation. In 1992 has was honored as a recipient of a Harry S Truman Scholarship for Public Service.
