

International Artist & Humanitarian, UK's Danelle Harvey Performs Atlanta's Sweet Auburn Fest

Londoner, Singer, Composer, Guitarist and Humanitarian Danelle Harvey to perform at Sweet Auburn Festival, 18 May 2013

ATLANTA - May 17, 2013 - PRLog -- Atlanta, Georgia, US, 17 May 2013

Danelle Harvey's east coast US tour will be wrapped up with festival performances before returning home.

Her recent performances include at Georgia State Capitol for Governor Nathan Deal's proclamation of Victory of Violence month and Miami's Winter Music Conference. She will perform at Sweet Auburn Festival this weekend on the main stage.

For the first time in 3 years, Danelle Harvey, also known as the Ethical Diva, has been back on the road promoting her current album "Feelings". She returns back to her solar powered studio to finish the recording of her acoustic album, "The Hills" which is due out later on this year.

Over the years, Danelle has toured internationally playing in numerous festivals including Glastonbury and The Secret Garden Party and in many music arenas worldwide. She has worked with artists including Meatloaf, P.Diddy and P-Funk, billed with artists such as Robin S and the late Amy Winehouse, and as a stand in for superstar Deborah Cox with DJs Rule. The multi-faceted artist and entrepreneur is also Deputy Editor of JazzReloaded.com, and host of the Parliamentary award-winning magazine's Podcast.

Danelle is the first ever Fair Trade media artist. The roller-skating, food and leg warmer obsessed artist likes to make a positive difference through her music by partnering with conscious organisations on her projects. Through her humanitarian work she has also been ambassador, mentor, and partner with organisations & charities ShelterUK, Let's Be Positive, Refuge & London Mayor's Rhythm of London on youth music projects.

See Danelle perform on 18th May 2013, on the Sweet Auburn Festival's main stage, 7:50 pm.
