Why do photographers need domain name?

It's increasingly hard to for an individual photographer to stand out in overpopulated world of digital photography. Premium domain name gets the job done. Say my name. That's what exact match domain name stands for. The exact match domain tells the whole story about your online presence in one short line, it's memorable and it's brandable. That's why the exact match domains are popular and pricey.

Just like the adage "A picture is worth a thousand words" the entire idea of exact match domain branding refers to the notion that a complex idea should be conveyed in the most laconic way. When you buy a good domain name, you buy a business.
