

HIPAA HITECH Express Updates and Details

WASHINGTON - Jan. 22, 2016 - PRLog -- Healthcare organizations continue to struggle in meeting regulatory requirements and securing their organization. HIPAA HITECH Express was developed to change the paradigm that security and privacy implementation and compliance had to be difficult and costly. HIPAA HITECH Express is providing healthcare related organizations of all types the ability to reduce risk, gain a competitive advantage, and generate more revenue. Now, HIPAA HITECH Express is undergoing several updates aimed at enhancing current functions to make security and privacy initiatives even simpler and more efficient moving forward.

In an effort to help current and future customers alike, these advancements will make the current functionalities much more engaging and easier to use. Specifically, the updates focus on the risk assessment feature and the document repository.

The risk assessment provides the universe of common information technology risks that a healthcare organization may have, and takes away the guess work and extra time out of the process. Thus, risk assessments can be completed in just days as opposed to weeks or months.

“This is something that our partners couldn’t be happier about,” stated CEO Robert Zimmerman. Zimmerman went on to say, “Completing a risk assessment is key to security and privacy compliance, and until now this has been a difficult process at best.”

“The integrated risk assessment saves both my clients and I substantial time, and lets us focus our energies on remediating key IT risks,” said Susan Pretnar, KeySys Health President and user of HIPAA HITECH Express.

The second major update is to the document repository. The changes to the document repository give the user the ultimate freedom to tailor the process of categorizing information in a way that is most conducive to that of a successful operation. In the most opportune circumstance, the document repository can now serve as a one stop regulatory compliance repository for organizations, as opposed to having a variety of documents in a plethora of places that are hard to keep track of and manage.

As a result of this update to the document repository, more time will be saved, information requests can be easily processed and stress will be alleviated for those charged with the task of overseeing document organization.

These changes are just the tip of the iceberg. 2016 is shaping up to be a big year for HIPAA HITECH Express, so it is only right that the year start off with great advancements that will make healthcare organizations lives easier and reduce stress.

“We continue to enhance the HIPAA HITECH Express solution to make it easier to use and give our clients a competitive edge,” said Eric Hummel, CTO of QI Express.

HIPAA HITECH Express continues to revolutionize security compliance.
