ABM in Europe-Wide Re-branding

The ABM construction and civil engineering group is re-branding its European operations.

May 8, 2008 - PRLog -- The ABM construction and civil engineering group is re-branding its European operations. Managing Director Sean Minihane explained, “We have grown substantially in recent years, expanding both the area of our operations and range of construction services. The re-branding will clarify our offer in each country and establish each of the divisions as a unit under the ABM banner.”

ABM established a presence in the UK with the acquisition of pre-cast concrete manufacturer Precon in 2006. This business focussed on the manufacture of bespoke pre-cast structural components. Substantial investment has been made in the Nottinghamshire site, including the introduction of the Matière system of pre-engineered concrete bridging structures. To reflect the different nature of these businesses, two divisions will operate in the UK, ABM Precast Solutions Ltd for bespoke precast units and ABM Bridge Systems for Maîtrière buried precast concrete structures.

In Ireland the company is best known as a leading contractor for general construction. However, in recent years there has been considerable growth in heavy civil engineering work, largely based on the use of the Maîtrière bridge system. The construction and civil engineering business units will now be known respectively as ABM Construction and ABM Bridge Systems.

The company also holds the licence for Maîtrière structures in Slovakia, the Czech Republic and Poland. In these three countries the company will trade under a single identity, ABM Mosty.

The global headquarters for the group will continue to be Dublin. To project a consistent image in all markets a new web site has been created www.abmeurope.com which showcases the work of all the divisions.
