

UK Flooring Direct Lead in the UK Online Flooring Market

UKFlooringDirect are a leading online company providing all types of flooring from laminate wood flooring to engineered wooden floors from many of the top name providers at some of the cheapest prices in the UK.

May 17, 2008 - PRLog -- Cheshire,England ,--Their website has recently undergone a complete redesign, making the user interface easier to use and their extensive virtual showroom easier for the customer to browse.This new showroom means that the customer can view every product type from solid oak hardwood flooring to laminate wood flooring in every shade and style available in a matter of seconds. Every product type has an extensive description and where applicable a warranty length attached to it. Every product also includes detailed images, listed benefits and the chance to request samples of the chosen product so customers can try before they buy. With an additional extensive clearance section to browse through on this site UKFlooringDirect are giving their customers even more chances to make huge savings.

With some of the cheapest prices in the UK from some of the biggest retailers, UKFlooringDirect have created online a user friendly catalogue that's as useful as being in a retail outlet but without the crowds or inexperienced staff. With 25 years of experience in all types of flooring behind them, the founders of UK Flooring have gained a unique understanding of the needs of their customers and have passed this expert knowledge on to their trained staff.

Their lengthy commitment to flooring and the resultant buying power it has given them means that UKFlooringDirect is recognised by those in the industry as leading experts in flooring retail and as such their sway means they can pass on customer savings of between 25 and 70%. Passing on huge savings to their customers due to their vast sales volume (up to 100 times larger than any retail outlet) and smaller overheads is only part of the picture. The new web site reflects UKFlooringDirect's commitment to customer care during and after sales.

As part of their excellent new customer-focused site, there are ample help pages where both retail and trade customers can visit their exclusive advice centre to get help with any problems they may be experiencing. Whether your question refers to engineered wooden floors, or solid oak hardwood flooring there's a local rate number to call and speak direct to one of UKFlooringDirect's trained and helpful staff. Any of their friendly and professional staff will be happy to advise you even after the completion of the sale.

UK Flooring Direct is also committed to getting the best prices for all trade orders, offering discounts and direct delivery, and will deliver free on all orders over £350 to mainland UK. For more details please visit our website: www.ukflooringdirect.co.uk
