Our supermarket approach to restaurant supply sales makes it easy and convenient for foodservice professionals to see and touch equipment before purchase. Give us a call today!

We're different.

A 5 store restaurant supply and restaurant equipment chain with gigantic distribution centers in 3 western states. We back-up what we sell with real stores and real merchandise, sold by real salespeople.

We'll Call You.

We believe that the sale just begins when you place your order with us. A knowledgeable salesperson will call to confirm your order, offer you any additional discounts, and verify your shipping information. We will also give you a follow-up call to make sure your unit arrived safely and that you are satisfied.

We're real people.

We don't believe all the hype about the internet. We believe business to business transactions are still best handled person to person. Your calls will be answered by a salesperson, we don't have "voice mail".

We are not:

Another "dot.com" with a phone and a desk ready to take your order and then "broker" the sale to a real restaurant supply store. We are not an "IPO" trying to do the job of a full service restaurant supply company.
