

National Emergency Contact Registry Urging flood victims to register in Washington State

Next of Kin Registry Offers Resources to Improve Communication with Loved Ones

Jan. 9, 2009 - PRLog -- Washington D.C., – The Next of Kin Registry (NOKR) America's central repository for Emergency Contact information is highly encouraging families and those with special needs to register their loved ones and friends who may be exposed to this potentially dangerous flooding. The NOKR started in Bellingham Washington in early 2004 and has now become the national standard for registering your emergency contact information. NOKR is listed on the Washington state website as a Police Program and also on the Washington State Patrol site. NOKR has become a usefully resource since 2004, here is a short list of disasters in which NOKR was implemented.

2004 Asian Tsunami
2005 Hurricane Disasters
2006 Indonesia Earthquake
2007 Virginia Tech College Shooting
2007 I-35 Bridge Collapse in Minneapolis, Minnesota
2008 Sichuan China Earthquake
2008 Iowa Flooding Disaster
2008 California Wildfire's

“We send our prayers out to those displaced and struck by this excessive flooding we will do everything we can to assist communication efforts,” says Mark Cerney, NOKR President and Founder. “We urge Americans nationwide to register themselves and their loved ones via the free service to enable an efficient location and contact of family and friends. The goal is to avoid a devastating aftermath and to resume normalcy as quickly as possible.”

NOKR also is encouraging victims of the current flooding disaster to register that you are safe with NOKR's service partner, the American Red Cross Disaster Safe Site at: <https://disastersafe.redcross.org>.
