

Cpa Prep Seminar in Montreal starts June

April 16, 2009 - PRLog -- Accounting graduates who are just graduating with an undergraduate or graduate degree need to get an accounting license to be able to effectively compete in the job market especially during a recession.

In recent years with the globalization of financial markets, IFRS, NAFTA, mergers and acquisitions, many chartered accountants are obtaining their CPA. By adding the CPA to your list of credentials, you can continue life long learning, increase your client base in public practice, or seek new career opportunities. Whether you stay in Canada, or move to the U.S., the CPA is the most recognized accounting credential in the world.

Leah Donti has been teaching CPA and IQEX seminars since 1998. She has 19 years full time experience in public speaking. Ms. Donti also conducts CPE training for AICPA (American Institutes of CPAs) for CPAs across the United States.

Why is attending a live CPA seminar with Leah Donti the best way to pass the CPA exams?

- Complete Immersion in your study.
- Learning in a live session with others going through the same process is the BEST way to learn fast.
- Home study - books, CDs, and online courses – are great. But NOTHING compares to getting away from your office or home, spending 20 Saturdays with an experienced instructor and other participants, and completely focusing on learning the technical knowledge of the CPA topics
- Studying alone you do not have anyone else to talk with about the subject or to answer your individual questions.
- Exchanging ideas, coaching, sharing knowledge are the best ways to learn.

All study materials are provided with the CPA live seminar. The fees qualify for the Bill 90 training education tax credit for employers of participants. Or a participant may claim the fees on their personal tax return.

The U.S. Uniform CPA exam consists of 4 separate computer-based exams that have multiple choice and case-based simulations. The exam is strictly single subject and tests only entry-level technical material. The CPA Exam is written on demand by scheduling an appointment with a test centre in the US.
