

New Affordable Eco-Chic Custom Wedding Invitations from Formal-Invitations.com

In addition to their popular DIY invitations kits, Formal-Invitations offers earth-friendly, affordable custom wedding invitations, printed to client's specifications. Customers can select from their artwork and color palettes or provide their own.

April 29, 2009 - PRLog -- Formal-Invitations.com, well respected for ideas and concepts with an expensive look at an affordable price, has recently added custom options to its line of unique wedding invitations. The selection includes a layered style using luxury papers and keepsake embellishments and the new card style which are completely custom printed to your specifications.

The layered style features a fine quality heavyweight background card available in a modern palette of rich solids, sparkling metallics, exclusive prints or handmade petal papers. Used with a custom printed crisp white or translucent vellum overlay, they can be embellished with a metal charm, decorative brad, wax seal, skeleton leaf, mini silk flower or finished with a fine paper sash, jacquard wrap, or belt with buckle.

The card style, simple in design with no overlay, is the most affordable option and also allows complete personalization. Cards are printed to a customer's specifications on white premium heavyweight 100# card stock, made from earth-friendly 100% recycled post consumer fibers. Choose from their exquisite collection of vintage artwork, full color modern photos and contemporary color palette or they can use a client's art or photograph and specific colors. Prices range from $1.99 to $2.99 each with printed envelope, depending on quantity.
