

Georgia Flooding Victims Could benefit from Emergency Contact Registry

Flooding victims can be reconnected with the help of NOKR, Americas Emergency Contact Registry. NOKR has become a vital resource for daily emergencies and global disasters since 2004.

Sept. 22, 2009 - PRLog -- Washington D.C., – The National Next of Kin Registry (NOKR) America's central repository for Emergency Contact information is highly encouraging families and those with special needs to register their loved ones and friends who may be exposed to this potentially dangerous flooding in Georgia. See www.nokr.org

The NOKR is a free listed resource on the Georgia State website. NOKR became a free resource in Georgia in 2004. To learn more about NOKR in Georgia follow this link.

“We send our prayers out to those displaced and struck by this excessive flooding we will do everything we can to assist communication efforts,” says Mark Cerney, NOKR President. “We urge Americans nationwide to register themselves and their loved ones via the free service to enable an efficient location and contact of family and friends. The goal is to avoid a devastating aftermath and to resume normalcy as quickly as possible.”

NOKR also is encouraging victims of the current flooding disaster to register that you are safe with NOKR's service partner, the American Red Cross Disaster Safe Site at: <https://disastersafe.redcross.org>.

About NOKR

The Next Of Kin Registry (NOKR) was established as a FREE tool for daily emergencies and national disasters. NOKR is your emergency contact system to help if you or your family member is missing, injured or deceased.

NOKR is a humanitarian non-profit 501(c)(3) dedicated to bridging rapid emergency contact information. NOKR was established in January 2004, for daily emergency situations.
