

Earthslink Communications Moves Into Property Sales With www.earthslinkproperties.com

Earthslink Communications is dedicated to providing innovative sales and marketing solutions to all sectors of the Nigerian economy, The company is making waves in real estate with the launch of www.earthslinkproperties.com

Dec. 30, 2009 - PRLog -- Earthslink Communications is boldly taking steps into real estate sales and marketing with the launch of its property website, www.earthslinkproperties.com.

The website will provide the much needed forum for real estate agents and property consultants to market and sell available real estate on the market, online.

Earthslink Communications is a focused, integrated team with a common aim of working with our clients, utilizing research and development initiatives in developing unique products for unique markets.

We specialize in one area and one area only – product development and sales

Earthslink Communications provides a unique global focus, expertise, and solutions/strategies within four practice areas: sales productivity, sales effectiveness, channel enablement and executive access. We first take the time to understand goals, current situation and target client. Earthslink then quickly identifies the obstacles, gaps or issues; we then develop a tailored solution with the choice of four delivery options and work side-by-side with our partners to achieve the desired.

The company will provide sales and marketing research for organisations of various sizes, The Nigerian market has over the years prepared itself for the introduction of sales and marketing research into the corporate business environment but Earthslink Communications has gone a step further by incorporating a sales and marketing function into their research methodologies, this allows for an all round effective sales and marketing drive.

Earthslink Communications is currently providing a wide range of solutions using an effective research and development led initiative guaranteed to achieve results. Performance development remains at the heart of our company, we have over the years picked up invaluable experience in sales, research and development, social and market research, advertising, business and new media.

Earthslink's strategic active involvement approach has been developed to provide a logical, considered process to enable us to work with you in identifying and actioning changes that will result in performance improvements particularly in sales improvement figures.
