Sept. 8, 2011 - PRLog -- Time For Passion - Episode 6 - Return of the Johnson - Pig in the Sitee

Johnson and Yorkshire discuss pre-production duties on The World when Johnson is interrupted by the beautiful waitress, Vivienne. They discuss his many achievements and her goals on becoming an actress. He convinces her to take his class. Johnson lectures to his students about one of the best masterpieces to ever touch Hollywood cinema, The Karate Kid. After dealing with a troublemaker that doesn't know anything about acting or movies, Johnson hits Hollywood blvd to talk to the public.

Time For Passion is the brainchild of comedy writer and actor Kor Adana. Born and raised in a suburb of Detroit, Kor Adana discovered a passion for film and storytelling at an early age. Inspired by the work great filmmakers that include Stanley Kubrick, Sergio Leone, and Christopher Nolan, it has been a lifelong passion to move people emotionally using the cinematic medium. After moving to Los Angeles, Kor honed his story telling craft, writing spec features and spec shows. His sci-fi mystery/thriller screenplay Relative Vengeance qualified for ScriptShark's Scouting Service in 2011.

Episodes 1-5 were periodically released over a three month period and have been featured on Indie Intertube; Slebisodes; Web Series Today; Web Series Channel; Alterna-TV; Funny or Die and soon, Mingle Media TV.
