‘SPIRITUALITY’, is a term that can never have a proper, abstract definition, indicating what it truly means as well. Spirituality is all about letting yourself become, ‘one’, with achieving a peaceful, rhythmic sync between your body, soul and mind. This can be achieved in many ways, through arts like, Yoga, Meditation and other rituals like different kinds of ‘pujas’ and ‘homas’.

India has a history with a number of rituals and practices to please their God offer their love and hope for a good future and a calm present. With umpteenth number of these rituals, one of the many is in name of pleasing the planets. Special rituals, or ‘pujas’ are done to please the planets, get them in a harmonious sync, getting rid of all the cluttered negativity and paving way for positivity to seep in. With a number of ways to achieve the aim of a perfect balance between the planets and to get the blessings of God, one of them is ‘Homa’.

Homa or Deva-Yajna is the making of offerings to fire which is career thereof to the Deva (God.)

A havan or homa is similar to a puja in the sense that both are common modes of Hindu worship and both are symbolic forms of communication. The word homais derived from the Sanskrit root hu, meaning to offer, to present and to eat. Generally, the word havan is heard in North India and homa is used in South India, but in either case, the meanings are identical.
