

Sharmooz Los Angeles premieres Moonlight Collection in New York Fashion Week

Feb. 2, 2015 - PRLog -- Ann Tillage is the founder and owner of Sharmooz Los Angeles, a boutique company that specializes in Satin Beauty Accessories and Designer Collections. She is a native of Los Angeles, and the 3rd generation in a family of seamstresses, tailors, and fashion forward entrepreneurial-minded women.

Her passion for sewing was reignited after having children and designing for other mothers. This was the catalyst for creating a successful brand. Sharmooz Los Angeles attributes its success to its stellar reputation for delivering exceptionally tailored work and its worldwide customer base.

The brand has been featured on several blogs, prestigious local and national magazines, national radio programs, FOX Small Business, CBS, the silver screen, and worn by celebrities. Ann was also featured on a billboard advertisement for the American Cancer Society's More Birthdays Campaign and awarded for her community service work.

The SLA Collection by Sharmooz will debut the Moonlight Collection during New York Fashion Week at the Couture Fashion Show in the Crowne Plaza Time Square on February 14th, 2015. The hues and shapes of the moonlight inspired the SLA Collection. The moonlight draws you in with calm colors and mood altering dimensions. The clean lines of the collection offer leg-lengthening flares with an effortless chic style. The minimalistic designs are comfortable with soft premium textiles that add an elegant style and slimming silhouettes for the clientele.
