

New Superhero Web Series Promotes Diversity

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - April 25, 2016 - PRLog -- Less Than Super follows a new group of heroes as they learn how to work together as a team, all the while balancing their personal lives with their secret lives. "It was very important to me to create characters who were relatable," says creator/showrunner Sandrene Mathews ("Show and Talk"). "I've never liked diversity for the sake of diversity. Yes, it's important to me to see people like me represented in media, but it's even more important to see worlds that resemble my world. There are no 'token' characters in my life."

The pilot episode is in post-production and scheduled to be released 3 May on Youtube (<http://youtube.com/lessthansuper>). They will simultaneously launch an Indiegogo campaign to raise money for the first season, as well as look for investors and sponsors. "We have at least two seasons worth of story to tell, and I want to tell it in the best way possible. My cast and crew are amazing, and I know things will only get better moving forward as we work together more and more."

Less Than Super is produced and shot in Nashville, TN with a team of Nashville-based actors and crew. It stars Sandrene Mathews, David Joel Stevenson (lead singer, Manic Bloom), Brandon Davis (host at comicbook.com), Sejal Mehta, Hunter Overby, Charlie Ridgely and Jessica Warman. It is directed by Alan Brazzell.
