

Diversity Speaker Lambers Fisher Kicks Cancel Culture to the Curb with Shame Free Approach

Lambers has recently joined forces with WCCO talk radio host Sheletta Brundidge to become the new voice of The Diversity Dude podcast, where he will bring his encouraging and welcoming approach to addressing often difficult issues involving diversity, equity, and inclusion to create a more positive and productive environment in the workplace, the classroom, and in the community. Beginning this month, tune in to hear Lambers Fisher as The Diversity Dude.

MINNEAPOLIS - Feb. 1, 2022 - PRLog -- Well-known Marriage & Family Therapist and Diversity Speaker Lambers Fisher is changing lives with his new book, "Diversity in Clinical Practice: A Practical & Shame-Free Guide to Reducing Cultural Offenses & Repairing Cross-Cultural Relationships."

This much-anticipated writing is a valuable tool for relationship building on every level of society, from educational and correctional facilities to the corporate office. Lambers addresses difficult issues and offers a soft place to land on every page while kicking the dreaded "cancel culture" to the curb! To date, it's sold over 1,000 copies.

"Diversity in Clinical Practice" is also recommended for religious leaders as congregations across America become more diverse. The purpose of this rich resource is to calm fears that professionals have when meeting the needs of people from different cultures. "Lambers Fisher sets out to mitigate these fears by providing a framework for professionals to better understand the experiences of cultural groups with whom they are not personally or professionally familiar."

This provocative and challenging rendering by this dynamic diversity instructor invites you to leave your social bubble and exposes you to unfamiliar cultural terrain. Through a fresh set of eyes, Lambers takes a non-shaming, non-condemning approach in repairing broken relationships. Mr. Fishers' techniques assist the reader in navigating around cultural offenses, which they may unintentionally promote. In doing so, they become more culturally competent and confident in their approach to others in heterogeneous settings. The seminary graduate turns over many stones while encouragingly delving into "issues of age, gender, sexuality, religion, acculturation, and social justice, as well as identifying opportunities to strengthen your cultural self-awareness."

Mr. Fisher is no novice in his field of expertise. He has been helping individuals, couples, and families from varied cultural and ethnic backgrounds for nearly two decades. As a licensed marriage and family therapist, Lambers changed lives all over the globe, and now he is turning his focus to the business arena. From the bedroom to the boardroom, Lambers Fisher has you covered.

Mr. Fisher holds an impressive educational portfolio, including a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from the University of Minnesota – Twin Cities. In addition, Lambers has obtained a Master of Science in Marriage & Family Therapy and a Master of Divinity from Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, CA.

According to Lambers, "If we can learn to help everyone feel seen and valued, despite their similarities and differences, we will see opportunities to strengthen relationships across the board, and it is immeasurable. Relationships change. Relationships grow."

Lambers Fisher has gained the approval from his peers, who give him a resounding five-star rating. "You won't find a more balanced and better-written primer on multicultural awareness and diversity. Lambers Fisher writes like an engaging therapist who combines challenge, acceptance, and love." — William J. Doherty, Ph.D., Professor, and Director of the Citizen Professional Center at the University of Minnesota.
