

RockNTix Takes on Ticketmaster and Eventbrite with a View to Abolishing Service Fees

RockNTix Plans to End the Ticketing Monopoly and Service Fees!

LOS ANGELES - June 21, 2023 - PRLog -- Mo Abersheid, founder of LA-based RockNTix – a ticketing app that offers NO FEE event ticketing – discusses how the end is near for the current ticketing monopoly and skyrocketing service fees.

"Everyone who wants to should be able to experience or produce the magic of a live event without paying the high fees currently charged by event ticketing companies. So, I created a 'no fee' ticketing app that would help enable venues, artists and fans to get together without the associated service fees," said Mo.

"Traditionally, event ticketing companies have profited on two fronts. They benefit from both event organizers and ticket buyers. We are here to break this 'tradition' once and for all. Our motto of NO service fees, NO subscriptions and NO plans will disrupt an industry that traditionally gouges venues and concert goers alike.

"Everyone is extremely money-conscious these days, and RockNTix was created to help small venues and ticket buyers keep more money in their pocket. So, we want everyone to download the app and start saving money now."

As a growing tech company, RockNTix is currently engaging with and seeking additional investors in order to launch a major marketing campaign to get the word out about RockNTix. "RockNTix will change the ticketing industry forever and become a global force by democratizing the way fans see their favorite bands," Mo added.

The RockNTix app is available on Android and iOS.
