

Celebrating 34 Years as a Safety-First Transportation & Logistics Partner

Company highlights workforce development, Detroit growth, technology-enabled operations, and community impact

ANN ARBOR, Mich. - Jan. 26, 2026 - PRLog -- Golden Limousine International marks its 34th anniversary this month, celebrating a company built on a simple promise: deliver safe, reliable transportation with professional service that holds up under real pressure.

Founded in 1992, Golden has grown from a local operator into a trusted transportation and logistics partner for corporations, universities, nonprofit organizations, and major events. The company supports charter, shuttle, motorcoach, and executive transportation across Michigan and nationwide, and coordinates service worldwide through a trusted affiliate network of transportation partners that share Golden's standards for professionalism and performance.

"Reaching 34 years is a testament to our chauffeurs and operations team and to the clients and planners who have trusted us with important days and complex logistics," said Sean Duval, President and CEO of Golden Limousine International. "Our standard remains the same: safety-first, detail-driven execution, and clear communication. We are proud to serve Michigan with our own fleet, and to support clients worldwide every day through an affiliate network built on shared expectations and accountability."

Built for complex logistics, not commodity transportation

Golden's work increasingly centers on high-expectation transportation where reliability, safety, and proactive planning matter most, including conferences, institutional travel, sporting events, large-scale group movements, and multi-day shuttle operations. The company's approach is designed to reduce friction for planners and protect client schedules and reputations.

Over the past year, Golden supported large-scale event and conference transportation in Southeast Michigan, including multi-day shuttle programs and group movements requiring staging, coordination, and operational discipline.

Strategic focus for 2026: Detroit growth, talent pipeline, and modern operating systems

Looking ahead, Golden is focused on disciplined growth, including a strategic expansion in Detroit designed to extend Golden's standards into a high-demand market for corporate, medical, sports, and event transportation.

Golden is also investing in the systems and people that support long-term performance:

- Workforce development through training and apprenticeship pathways that help build the next generation of professional operators and leaders.
- Technology-enabled operations that strengthen safety, maintenance discipline, communication, and accountability across dispatch, fleet readiness, and service execution.
- Fleet modernization and sustainability planning, including evaluating lower-emission solutions and operational practices that align with evolving client expectations and responsible stewardship.

Community partnership remains central

Golden's commitment extends beyond transportation. The company supports nonprofit organizations and community initiatives across the region. Golden's leadership emphasizes that dollars spent with Golden help support local jobs and strengthen the communities the company serves.

"As we grow, we remain committed to being a premium provider and a responsible community partner," Duval said. "We will continue investing in our people, our standards, and the systems required to deliver consistent, safe performance."
